Dear Sir:-

While for the moment I am unable to find my file of Mint Reports, I can give you a complete synopsis of the production of the United State's Mint from its foundation probably. That is, I have an official transcript of the entire operations of the Mint, from the year 1792 to the year 1837 inclusive. I am not sure that I can connect this with the series of reports which I copy from my Library Catalogue. Embracing as you see nearly the entire series.

While I know that I have some duplicates, I am not sure how many. If you make a transcript of the Mintage for each year, I should be glad to have it in the tree metals, Gold, Silver and Copper, but the values only, and not the number of pieces. I will transcribe any portion of the first series, 1793 to 1837 inclusive, that you may wish to obtain, or will lend you the volume in which they are published, for that purpose.

The aggregate value of the coinage up to 1837 inclusive was $72.881.448. I may also say that I have these Mint reports in the message and document series for nearly every one of the years appearing to be wanting in my series of complete reports.

Very respectfully,

Louis Blodgett
